

Foreign Policy

As the White Knight Party we believe that foreign policy is an important part of our nation and should not be taken lightly. We believe that it is important to be involved in the world outside of our nation. Alliances with other nations are important and are not meant to be broken unless they are hurting us or others. As allies we should share at least one common goal. As an independent nation we should not interfere with with other nation's decisions as long as the people of that nation have a part in the decision. These decisions are the people's choices and not ours to interfere with. The White Knight Party is a party of the people. Getting involved in decisions like this could weaken our relationships with other nations. It could be a waste of money trying to influence other people's decisions in other countries as we are already in debt. If a nation attacks one of our allies then it should be our duty fight alongside our ally as not only could it be a threat to them, but also a threat to us as a nation. If they are an enemy of one of our allies then they could potentially become one of our enemies. We made an alliance with this nation and it would be too late to back out. It is important to have communication with other nations so that we can keep up with world issues and help with these issues if needed. Not only can helping with world issues help other people, but it can help to build better relationships with other nations. Communication helps us to know the opinions of other nations and possibly find common ground with them. Conferences are a great way of communication with other nations and help us to hear their opinions. We should try not to get too involved in world issues however, as we could go into more debt. It is important to remember that we have problems in our own nation. If any outside threat is found against the United States then it is important to take military action. If there is a threat against another nation's freedom (especially an ally) then it is important to take military action. It is important to keep our defenses strong and not declining so that we do not fall behind other nation's militaries. The same goes with technology for us. We don't need to fall behind other nations as it could be dangerous. National security should be a big priority in the United States to protect us from other nations. If a nation starts to gain a lot of power it is important to take action. It shouldn't be militarily, but there should be some checking and balancing to keep the nation from becoming too powerful. Imperialism should not be allowed as territory should not be gained by force. However, if people give up their territory to another country willingly then we should stay out of it as long as the nation isn't becoming too powerful.
