

Immigration platform

Immigration is at every place we go and people will want to claim what they have found. As in U.S, U.S is the dream of most people to come and make a better life, to make a family and seek better things in their own life. However it is hard to come into the U.S without you being a citizen, so the commonly thing people will do is try to come without being notice that they are coming in. People may believe that borders is how immigrants will stop and will solve a few problem. It will solve a few things, maybe slow it down but it will just be for a few while because later on in time people will try everything to come into the U.S. As I say try, I mean try in any ways whether it's on air, land, ocean people will try to come in, I believe that this will not stop because the police all they do is either keep them in jail for however long time and then send them to the place they are originally from or just simply send them straight back. So to solve the few gap that are still needed to be filled, people from the U.S can have more than usual border patrols, and have patrol on all places, air, land, sea, and all that can be connected to cross it. This will not fully stop them from coming in but it sure will slow them a lot and immigrants will see that it is hard to come in so the option they have is to wait until patrols fall back a little bit. Other choice is to defend it, by this I mean that patrols will have to literally push the limit and kinda scare them off a bit so the immigrant can see that patrols are now serious that no one is allowed to pass to the U.S illegally, this will include pointing guns or showing something strong as if an army was there to show that the immigrant have to pass them first to get through. People say why should other people come into their place, well there are a lot of reason and some reason could even match their answer if you asked them the same question. Some answer can be to look for better thing, to explore more than what they can see, and that is the same thing as immigrants, immigrants want to see more than what they usually see in their country. I say that no state shall have a border because the land is for everyone and there should be no borders blocking our path to seek a better life for own good.
